

TRANSIT THE PANAMA CANAL TO A TROPICAL SANCTUARY

PANAMA & COSTA RICA—WITH SPECIAL OFFERS
ABOARD NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC SEA LION 2016-17

Lindblad
Expeditions

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC™

DEAR TRAVELER,

Over 100 years after the Panama Canal opened it is again changing global commerce. With the new Canal locks coming into operation, vessels that are nearly three times larger than before will be able to transit this country that divides oceans. The Canal Expansion Project was an audacious, multi-billion-dollar bet, and the result is—even seen in photos and videos—fascinating.

In recognition of this achievement, and after watching broadcasts of the opening of the locks and reading about it, our team decided that we needed to offer our guests an experience in Panama to commensurate with the significance of the new Canal. So, we're offering all of our guests an extra day in Panama City, with an opportunity to see the lock expansion from the Agua Clara Visitor Center, enjoy a private dinner overlooking the Miraflores Locks, plus a visit to the fantastic Frank Gehry-designed Museum of Biodiversity, and more. To make travel easier, we'll cover your flight from Miami to Panama. (If you don't have the luxury of time to spend an extra day in Panama, you may elect to receive an extra $500 air credit rather than the extension.)

If you choose to join us here, you'll find our transit of the Canal is unique. We cross over two days, allowing us to see it by day and dramatically lit at night. We overnight at Barro Colorado Island in the Canal Zone and then by special invitation spend a morning at the Smithsonian Research Station on the island, seeing the site of the longest continuous tropical research in the world and learning a bit about the scientists' important work here.

Though our experience in the Panama Canal is peerless, it is far from the totality of our expedition. It is our approach to the wild places of Costa Rica and Panama, balanced against the stark industrialism of the Canal, that make our voyage not only unique but complete. And it is the surprise-and-delight of our expedition-style of travel, whether that means we drop expedition landing craft to navigate deep into twisting mangrove channels, serve the most delicious, locally-sourced food and fresh-caught fish, or merely spend a relaxing afternoon stand-up paddle boarding, kayaking, or beachcombing an idyllic spot we find to ourselves.

With the historic opening of the locks there's no better time to transit the Panama Canal and experience the rare wildness of Costa Rica. I hope you'll join us.

Best regards,

Squirrel monkey, Manuel Antonio National Park.

DAY 1: U.S./SAN JOSÉ, COSTA RICA/ HERRADURA/EMBARK

Upon arrival in San José, transfer by land to Herradura and embark our ship National Geographic Sea Lion. (D)

DAY 2: MANUEL ANTONIO NATIONAL PARK

Spend the morning in Manuel Antonio National Park, a UNESCO World Heritage site, where thick forests fringe white-sand beaches. Watch for three-toed sloths lazing among the branches, and spot monkeys and vividly colored birds. This afternoon follow the Pacific coastline south and stop for a refreshing swim or a hike. (B,L,D)

DAY 3: OSA PENINSULA

Anchor off the Osa Peninsula to see some of the most pristine lowland rain forest on the Pacific coast. In the environs of Corcovado National Park, swim in waterfall pools, optional horseback riding on the coast, or trek through the rain forest for a chance to see four species of monkeys—howler, spider, capuchin, and squirrel. (B,L,D)

Heliconia.

DAY 4: GOLFO DULCE

Enter the mangrove-fringed Golfo Dulce along the southwestern edge of Costa Rica. Visit Casa Orquídeas, a tropical paradise of ornamental palms, bromeliads, heliconias, and orchids, closed to the general public and reached by boat only. Keep your eye out for tanagers, parrots, and toucans. Later, explore the placid bay, ideal kayaking, stand up paddle boarding, expedition landing craft rides and swimming. (B,L,D)

DAY 5: COIBA NATIONAL PARK, PANAMA

The first stop in Panama this morning is at the remote Isla Coiba, one of the many islands of Coiba National Park, a UNESCO World Heritage site. Once a penal colony, the island has long been protected and accessible by special permit only. Among its many endemic species are the Coiba Island agouti and the mantled howler monkey, as well as four varieties of sea turtle. Discover rich marine life while snorkeling, go kayaking or hiking, try stand up paddle boarding, or simply relax on the beach. (B,L,D)

DAY 6: GULF OF PANAMA ISLETS/ PANAMA CANAL TRANSIT

Today, explore the tiny islets of the Gulf of Panama by expedition landing craft or kayak. Here we might spot frigatebirds, brown pelicans, neotropical cormorants, and brown boobies. Set sail for the Panama Canal this afternoon. Stretching more than 50 miles, the canal was a colossal engineering feat completed in 1914. It is still traversed by some 14,000 ships every year. As cargo ships tend to pass through the canal during the day, we'll most likely begin our crossing at night, when the canal is dramatically lit. (B,L,D)

DAY 7: GATÚN LAKE/PANAMA CANAL TRANSIT

Board our expedition landing craft to visit Barro Colorado Nature Monument in Gatún Lake by special arrangement. Scientists have worked at the Smithsonian Tropical Research Institute on Barro Colorado Island since 1923, researching its 120 mammals and diverse tree species. It is also the site of a National Geographic-supported project that tracks tagged animals using automated radio signals and wireless technology. Join local guides for a walk through the forests. This evening, continue through the complex lock system of the canal. (B,L,D)

DAY 8: COLÓN/PANAMA CITY/U.S.

After breakfast, disembark in Colón and transfer to the airport in Panama City for your flight home. (B)

TRAVEL PLANNING WITH A DIFFERENCE

Half of travel planning is learning what you don't know and generating questions. The other half is getting answers.

When you call 1.800.EXPEDITION, you can ask for any one of our Expedition Specialists who have been on our Costa Rica & the Panama Canal expeditions. They are full members of the Lindblad Expeditions team—students of the natural world and born explorers, not trained call center telemarketers.

SO WHY NOT TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THEIR EXPERTISE? Don't hesitate to call with your questions—they're equipped to provide answers based on their knowledge and personal experience.

Ask them about Costa Rica & the Panama Canal, how we explore there, our ships, our itineraries, and more. We think you'll find the conversation rewarding.
