UPPER AMAZON

EXPLORING PERU’S PACAYA-SAMIRIA RESERVE
ABOARD DELFIN II – THE FINEST SHIP ON THE AMAZON | 2013
As astonishing as National Geographic magazine. As exhilarating as National Geographic Channel: A Lindblad-National Geographic expedition — into the heart of the Amazon

Lindblad Expeditions and National Geographic have joined forces to further inspire the world through expedition travel. Our collaboration in exploration, research, technology and conservation will provide extraordinary travel experiences and disseminate geographic knowledge around the globe.
Dear Traveler,

There is an extraordinary harmony between the Amazon and our ship, the Delfin II. It feels like a natural extension of the river and jungle. Its airy top deck is exposed to views of the bright green riverbanks, open to the cries of birds and howls of monkeys. This is the perfect place to relax in the evening and listen to the sounds of the rain forest or catch a breeze when the ship is underway. And each of Delfin II’s staterooms has panoramic windows. There is, quite literally, a view at every turn.

You’ll find the Amazon ideal for expedition-style travel. It is dense in biodiversity and wildlife, especially the region we’ve chosen to explore. We see mammals such as sloths and several species of monkeys, including large groups of saddleback tamarins, night monkeys, and monk sakis, which are rarely seen up close though we’ve had excellent luck. The birding is world class, and the tally of wildlife spotted each week would be the envy of any naturalist. We are one of the only ships that carries kayaks into the Peruvian Amazon, which allow for peaceful, personal encounters with the river and rain forest. Though, in spite of the extraordinary biodiversity and wildlife, when I ask guests for their highlights of the expedition they almost always mention entering the villages in the reserve we explore, visiting the ribereños in their schools and homes.

Our local guides are the perfect ambassadors when we enter these villages since they’ve all grown up on the banks of the river, many of them in the places we visit. The depth of their knowledge and their skill at spotting wildlife is astounding. They are led by one of our veteran expedition leaders, who also serves as a certified photo instructor. He or she will be on hand to offer shooting tips and help you with your camera’s settings to ensure you go home with excellent photos.

Our ship is the finest on the river—and just like our expedition leader, local guides, kayaks, and special relationships with the ribereños—it serves to connect you with the purity and wildness of the Amazon. I hope you’ll join us.

Best regards,

Sven-Olof Lindblad

P.S. Travel with us during the National Geographic anniversary in 2013 and we would love to give you a copy of this wonderful book celebrating this essential institution’s path for over a century.
Go aboard Delfin II. Venture into the remote, seldom-seen Amazon. This is a pristine river and landscape largely untouched by outsiders, protected by its isolation and wildness.

Hike jungle paths. Explore narrow tributaries by motorized skiff. Paddle through a flooded forest or explore a narrow creek canopied by jungle.

Go in the company of the best staff, including a longtime Lindblad Expedition leader and talented local guides.

Delfin II accommodates 28 guests in 14 spacious, beautifully appointed outside suites. Read more about your unique onboard experience on pages 4-5.
National Geographic began conducting Amazon expeditions when wide swaths of the map were simply labeled: “unknown.” For 125 years, they’ve shared this part of the world with adventurous readers. And over 40 years ago, Lindblad Expeditions led the first ‘citizen explorers’ up the Amazon.

Now Lindblad Expeditions and National Geographic have formed an alliance to further inspire the world through expedition travel including the wilds of the Amazon—a land where “unknown” still promises discovery.
Five-star, sustainable dining—nearly every ingredient used by Delfin II's chef is sourced from the rain forest we explore. Discover a new world of dining.

The open, breezy top deck brings the jungle and river views inside. Rattan-draped sofas expand the possibilities for relaxing “lazy river” style or curling up with a book while awaiting sunset.

Delfin II, superb comfort and tropical style on the Amazon
Staterooms are spacious and airy. Panoramic views come in every cabin as do silken hardwoods and décor sustainably harvested from the rain forest and often crafted locally.

A Lindblad-National Geographic Certified Photo Instructor joins every departure

Beginning in January 2013, board Delfin II and you’ll have a knowledgeable, engaging Lindblad-National Geographic certified photo instructor at your service. This veteran naturalist is specially trained to assist you with camera settings, the basic elements of framing, composition and lighting; and to provide shooting tips to ensure you go home with fantastic photos.

Unlike a photography class or workshop, an Amazon expedition is a highly dynamic environment, where an incredible sighting can occur at any moment. So the fact that your photo instructor is also a skilled naturalist is invaluable. He or she can help you better understand the wildlife of the Amazon, so you can be at the right place at the right time to capture amazing behavior – whether you’re shooting from the ship’s deck, a skiff or on a jungle walk. Take an expedition with us and you’ll not only have the experience of a lifetime, you’ll have the shots to prove it.

KEY BENEFITS:
+ Understand your camera; experiment with settings other than ‘Auto’
+ Learn photography basics to ensure better photos
+ Take advantage of opportunities to shoot wildlife with the assistance of this specially trained naturalist

RENINGER COQUINCHE AREVALO
NATURALIST
Raised in a town along the banks of the Rio Huallaga in the Peruvian Amazon, Reninger has been a naturalist in the Amazon for over 30 years. During his experience, he has had the opportunity to work with various scientific groups, such as the renowned botanist Alwyn Gentry. Renny looks forward to sharing his in-depth knowledge of this region and decades of experience with our guests.

LUIS VELA
NATURALIST
Originally from a small river town in the Peruvian Amazon, Luis became a naturalist to remain surrounded by the flora and fauna of the forest and rivers he had loved as a child. On our expedition, Luis enjoys sharing his enthusiasm and experience of the region. His first-hand knowledge gives our guests a deeper, richer understanding of the Amazon jungle waterways he calls home.
Meet ribereños, natives of the reserve

The natives who make their lives on the banks of the Peruvian Amazon call themselves ribereños. They practice sustainable fishing and agriculture, just as their ancestors did.

We’ll visit their villages — a rare privilege — as they are not normally visited by outsiders. Often welcomed by their friendly children, we’ll have opportunities to learn more about their centuries-old customs. We’ll also have the chance to see their renowned handicrafts.

Many elements of the décor and decorative accents aboard Delfín II are made by ribereños, and you will have the chance to purchase similar handicrafts directly from the artisans, in what is invariably a mutually rewarding and responsible transaction.

THE PACAYA-SAMIRIA NATIONAL RESERVE

“The water was dark, tannin-rich and still. For good reason this river is sometimes referred to as the river of mirrors. The lush vegetation, white-barked trunks, green vines and tall trees reflected peace and a certain timelessness. Troops of howler monkeys, the snort of pink dolphins, brown capuchins, squirrel monkeys, horned screamers, egrets of all sizes; the Amazon flood forest was at its best this afternoon.”

— Cindy Manning, expedition leader, December 24, 2010

EXPERIENCE & EXPERTISE

We have conducted numerous Amazon expeditions in our history, and launched our first voyage aboard the beautiful, 28-guest Delfin II in August 2010. In order to provide expedition leadership in this pristine region, we tapped our tenured expedition leaders to lead our Amazon voyages, providing our guests with the same in-depth interpretation they find on our other expeditions. Our veteran team is highly knowledgeable about this locale, and trained to illuminate all the discoveries you’ll make.

EXPEDITION HIGHLIGHTS

- Explore the lakes of the flooded forest of Pacaya-Samiria National Reserve with a team of experienced naturalists.
- Spot legendary wildlife of the Amazon, including pink and gray dolphins, monk saki monkeys, piranhas, and scarlet macaws.
- Get acquainted with native ribereños on a visit to a community at the river’s edge.
- Gaze at the wilderness from the comfort of the Delfin II, and enjoy delicious, local meals prepared by our onboard chef.

“The dolphins are swimming through the trees. Bending sinuous bodies, they glide through branches and curl like snakes around fluted trunks. As frog-green fish dart through the leaves, the dolphins, pink as bubble gum, snap at them with long, toothy beaks. This is not some kaleidoscope dreamscape form a novel by Gabriel Garcia Marquez; this is the wet season in the upper Amazon.”

—Mark Jenkins, “RIVER DOLPHINS,” NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC MAGAZINE, JUNE 2009

Blue-and-yellow macaw perched among the rich greenery of the forest canopy.
DAY 1: U.S./LIMA, PERU

DAY 2: LIMA/IQUITOS/NAUTA
Enjoy a morning tour of Lima, then fly to Iquitos and continue overland to the riverside village of Nauta, where the Delfin II awaits. Settle into your cabin, and gather for a welcome dinner of fine Peruvian cuisine on board. Tonight, step out on deck to gaze at the magnificent Amazon night sky. Delfin II (B,L,D)

DAYS 3–8: PACAYA-SAMIRIA NATIONAL RESERVE
Spend this week exploring the Pacaya-Samiria National Reserve, a pristine swath of jungle—one of the largest in South America—stretching more than five million acres, and harboring some of the Amazon’s most fascinating flora and fauna. Bordered by the Marañón and the Ucayali, two powerful rivers that converge to create the famed Amazon, the reserve floods annually with nutrient-rich waters and is known locally as the Mirrored Forest for the reflections created by its glassy water.

Set out into this remarkable wilderness on daily excursions by skiff, kayak, and, when the water level permits, hikes on terra firma. Skim past giant lily pads afloat on black-water lakes, and venture deep into the rain forest on narrow tributaries. Spot sloths and monkeys, including variably colored saddleback tamarins, noisy howlers, and shaggy-tailed monk saki monkeys. Watch for an astounding variety of birds, from tanagers and hummingbirds to parrots and endangered scarlet macaws. In the river, look for massive paiche fish, the Amazon’s largest; rare pink dolphins; and the infamous piranhas.

Enjoy an opportunity to swim in a lake in the reserve’s interior. Seek out Victoria amazonica, a giant water lily that grows in small lagoons. Go on a bird-watching hike, listening for the vocal oropendola and then looking for its telltale yellow tail. Watch the sun set and listen to a cacophonous symphony of nocturnal animals calling out across the treetops. Then slip through the forest in a skiff as night falls, using a spotlight to find caimans, frogs, fishing bats and other creatures of the night.

Pay a visit to one of the communities on the reserve’s edge and get to know the ribereños, those who live on the riverbanks, and their age-old traditions. Meet local women and children, and watch them make jewelry and other handicrafts. Learn how local subsistence farmers cultivate wild plants and trees to earn income. Hear about how the locals find edible fruits and indigenous plants with medicinal properties hidden in the jungle. (B,L,D DAILY)

DAY 9: NAUTA/IQUITOS/LIMA
Enjoy one last morning excursion by skiff to view wildlife. After lunch, disembark in Nauta, and return to Iquitos overland for a late-afternoon flight to Lima. Costa Del Sol Ramada (B,L)
