The orca's dark, sleek back and tall, pointed dorsal fin are silhouetted against a massive, glowing plume of white water and orange-hued spray. # TWO SPECTACULAR EXPEDITION SHIPS THAT

THE 2019 SEASON WILL BE PARTICULARLY EXCITING AS WE PROUDLY WELCOME the brand-new National Geographic Venture to our fleet, joining her sister ship National Geographic Quest. Our new twin ships are perfect platforms for exploring their respective geographies: with tiered bows for unobstructed wildlife viewing, so you won't miss a moment in the magnificent landscape of our two Pacific Northwest destinations, British Columbia and the San Juan Islands and the Columbia and Snake Rivers. Generous windows amplify the ships' ability to keep you connected to the scenery surrounding you even when you're indoors. And each ship is equipped with a roster of exploration tools: A fleet of Zodiacs on each allows us to make landfall in pristine wild places, while kayaks and paddleboards enable you to get out on personal water-level adventures. Add to these features shallow-draft engineering and you have ideal access to the intimately-scaled, off-the-beaten-track waterways that make expedition travel so rewarding.

GO WHERE OTHERS CANNOT

DESIGNED TO PROVIDE THE OPTIMAL EXPERIENCE

EVERYBODY KNOWS THE MOST FAMOUS MANTRA IN REAL estate: “Location, location, location.” When you’re aboard National Geographic Quest/Venture, you’re always in prime real estate, so ideally situated, the Pacific Northwest comes to you, especially in the gorgeous dining room wrapped in a 270° view. It’s where our expedition community convenes daily for delicious meals—sourced from the area’s farms, vineyards, breweries, and waters—served in single seatings with unassigned tables, for an informal atmosphere and easy mingling.

Clockwise from top left: The terraced bow and expansive observation deck allow for unobstructed views for all guests (note: image taken in Alaska); the lounge is an ideal venue for informative talks and the nightly Recap; our superb dining staff; dining room wrapped in a 270° view; birdseye view of National Geographic Quest and decks. Left: Wine from local vineyard.

OPTIMAL EXPERIENCE

BRITISH COLUMBIA & THE SAN JUAN ISLANDS

YOU'LL EXPLORE NOT JUST ONE STUNNING SHORELINE

but many on this expedition. Our nimble ships thread the Inside Passage, tuck into straits and sounds, and weave through island groups known for their charm: the San Juan Islands, Vancouver Island, and the Gulf Islands.

There is much to see, and even more to do—from wildlife sighting and personal forays into nature by Zodiac, kayak, or paddleboard, to active engagement with the culture and beauty of the First Nation lands, and cosmopolitan Victoria. And, of course, we take advantage of the Pacific Northwest's renowned food culture. Our team is committed to using ingredients sourced within a 150-mile radius of where we explore—from sustainable growers, producers, and fisheries.

EXPERIENCE THE WILDERNESS AND CHARM OF THIS COASTAL REGION

HEAD TO THE SPECTACULAR SAN JUAN ISLANDS

equipped for exhilarating discoveries of the region's unmarred beauty, and the unparalleled opportunities it affords to spot wildlife, including, with luck, killer whales. Pick your spot at the deck rail and have your binoculars at the ready. Or your camera—your Lindblad-National Geographic certified photo instructor will be there with you. What image will you capture?

MYTH, BEAUTY, AND LIVING TRADITIONS. On Cormorant Island in British Columbia, Alert Bay is a village in traditional Kwakwaka'wakw territory. The rich history of this thriving First Nations' center of art and tradition is symbolized by a 173-foot high totem pole, one of the tallest in the world, and the U'mista Cultural Centre. We'll feel history in the drumbeats at a moving, private dance performance in the Big House at the Centre.

INSIDER'S TOUR OF VICTORIA. Victoria is a city of neighborhoods, and you'll be able to experience them with all your senses—on an active bike tour, or a leisurely historic stroll. The historic walk we've arranged, guided by knowledgeable local historian John Adams, is a "slow living" way to savor Victoria's landmark old town, Chinatown, and inner Harbor area. We also provide special access to the most spectacular of the city's famed gardens.

EXPEDITION HIGHLIGHTS

Kayak, hike, and explore aboard Zodiacs along the wildlife-rich shorelines of Desolation Sound and the Gulf Islands • Learn the history of First Nations people through their art and powerful dance performances • Search for killer whales around the San Juan Islands, where they're most reliably found in the Northern Hemisphere • Enjoy a private reception at the museum of acclaimed natural history artist Robert Bateman.
