2021-2023 VOYAGES

Southern fur seals, Right Whale Bay, South Georgia.

Dear Traveler,

Every single person I've ever met who's been to South Georgia—our guests, our staff, our captains—all say essentially the same thing. “It was the most magical, amazing, extraordinary place I've ever been.” Even Tom Ritchie, our longtime friend and iconic Lindblad naturalist, names it his number one favorite place to visit—and he has traveled all over the globe to many remote and outstanding destinations. Tom shares his great enthusiasm for South Georgia in a video you can watch at expeditions.com/tom_video.

So, what is it about this place that elicits such a consistent array of superlatives? Well, if you look through the pages that follow, I believe it will begin to become clear. And you will quickly understand why we've come to call this place ‘the Serengeti of the Southern Ocean.’ It is a true oasis teeming with vast numbers of penguins, plus fur and elephant seals, and a plethora of seabirds soaring above. A must-see for any lover of wild nature.

And, although not as dominant a lure since most people know little about them, the Falklands are a remarkable archipelago, also full of interesting wildlife—including the stunning array of albatross it offers. A third of the world's albatross breed here. Part wild kingdom/part Britain you'll also find the town of Stanley a delight—with its excellent small museum, shops, fish and chips, and of course teatime complete with scones and shortbread.

And, if you really want to make the most of your time and travel, I'd recommend taking a look at these expeditions, too: Antarctica, South Georgia & the Falklands, and our new itinerary Wild Coasts of Argentina, South Georgia & the Falklands.

All the best,

The thrilling sight of tens of thousands of king penguins greeting you on a single beach in South Georgia!

A large colony of king penguins is gathered on a rocky shore. In the background, a waterfall cascades down a dark, craggy cliff. The penguins are densely packed, filling the foreground and middle ground. The scene is set in a natural, rugged environment.

If the astonishing sight of some 100,000+ king penguins in one rookery alone were all this expedition offered; if at the end of our time among the kings—observing, listening, photographing, walking among, and communing with them—our team said “Show’s over, Folks,” and everyone were to head back home—it’s likely no one would complain, according to all our expedition leaders. It’s that profound and rewarding an experience.

There’s life in such profusion that it boggles your mind as it sends your spirit soaring. Dense colonies of king penguins, fur seals, elephant seals, macaroni and gentoo penguins. Slopes of stunning windward cliffs teeming with grey-headed, black-browed, and wandering albatross—nearly a third of all the birds of this species nest here. Plus, there are the rare endemics: the mighty South Georgia pipit, the only songbird in the Antarctic region and South Georgia’s only passerine; and the Falkland’s Johnny rook (Striated caracara). (Life-listers take note.)

Once a killing ground for whalers, South Georgia is now a sanctuary, an extravagant celebration of wildlife and pristine wildness.

And, of course, there is the option to add Antarctica—for THE trifecta. See the magisterial bergs, the stunning vastness, and the antics of colonies of multiple penguin species. It’s the ultimate expedition.

THE SERENGETI OF THE SOUTH aptly describes the spectacular scale of South Georgia wildlife, but it's more like Galápagos than Africa in one vital respect—the animals are 'right there,' and so are you. You will feel like a visitor to a sovereign nation, seeing life as it's really lived by its citizens in every detail, up-close. And you'll enjoy the ultimate luxury: time, to be there, taking photos or simply steeping in the sheer magnificence of it.

Discover a dizzying number of different creatures in South Georgia, manifesting all sorts of fascinating behavior: huge elephant seals, busy king penguins, and an albatross or two on a beach.

The wealth of wildlife in the islands is simply staggering. Spot these species. Clockwise: A fur seal amid the tussock grass; a rockhopper penguin, Falkland Islands; guests get a close-up look at an elephant seal; a male wandering albatross spreads his wings to entice his mate; the tiny South Georgia pipit; a stately king penguin adult and fuzzy chick.

AND OVER IT ALL LIES THE SHIMMERING MANTLE OF HISTORY. South Georgia is where the saga of Ernest Shackleton's legendary Endurance expedition famously reached its dénouement. Conditions permitting, you'll have the opportunity to walk in the footsteps of part of his historic traverse from Fortuna Bay to the Stromness whaling station, now a ruin; and drink a toast to him at the site chosen as his final resting place.

A HIKING HIGH AT THE BOTTOM OF THE WORLD

South Georgia offers a one-of-a-kind combination of stunning scenery and history few other hikes worldwide can match. Conditions permitting, this challenging hike begins at Fortuna Bay, home to a sizable king penguin rookery (approximately 10,000 pairs), small numbers of breeding Antarctic fur seals, southern elephant seals, and some light-mantled sooty albatross; the trail head itself is at a distance from most of the wildlife density. A steep vertical trail through tussock grass—where depending on the season you might see resting fur seal mothers and pups—becomes a gradual but steady incline. Along the hike the scenery is mostly alpine with stunning views of the Allardyce Range, and interesting geology to observe: Cumberland formations of dramatically folded sandstones from tectonic activity that separated South Georgia from Gondwanaland long ago. Plus, an incredible vista: at the highest elevation, about two-thirds of the total hike distance, you have the overlook of Shackleton's waterfall, Crean Glacier in the distance, and the old Stromness whaling station below. A steep, but short, descent from there drops you back down onto a sea level outwash plain that leads down—a gradual and graceful descent—to Stromness Bay, and the elegiac ruins of the whaling station, with fur seals, and perhaps a few more elephant seals. Add to that the bragging rights—perhaps as few as 1 in 500,000 people can claim to have done it—and it's one for your personal memory bank.

Opposite page: Half of an archival panorama shot by Frank Hurley of Frank Worsley and Lionel Greenstreet looking across South Georgia Harbour with the Endurance at anchor below. Top right: Lindblad hikers on the last part of the Shackleton traverse from Fortuna Bay to Stromness Harbour, South Georgia; naturalist Steve Maclean, paying homage to “The Boss” Sir Ernest Shackleton at his gravesite at Grytviken, South Georgia.

The Falkland Islands hold 70% of the world population of black-browed albatross. With a pure white head, they have a huge wingspan of 7–8 feet.

THIS EXPEDITION IS THE UNANIMOUS FAVORITE among our well-traveled expedition teams for the places it explores and the wildlife spectacle it presents. And of all they love about this expedition, one aspect stands out: how the Falklands invariably surprises and delights our guests. “I never expected it to be this beautiful” and “surpasses all expectations” are among the most frequent comments. Lars-Eric Lindblad pioneered travel there, and the experience you’ll have goes to the heart of our expedition style.

EXPERIENCING THE FALKLANDS

Some 3,000 people live in the Falklands; 2,500 in the capital, Stanley, and 500 distributed among the “settlements,” the sheep farms on islands within the Falklands group. Among the highlights of our explorations here is walking—walking through the waving tussock grass to the windward cliffs studded with albatross pairs and fledglings. Walking to visit a rockhopper penguin rookery. Walking alongside the bays, seeing steamer ducks and foraging Ruddy-head geese; across the graceful topography of meadows dotted with Magellanic penguin burrows; past the curious Johnny rooks (striated caracaras) to a humble welcoming home of a farmer, our friend for decades, to be greeted with a tea table groaning with homemade scones and cakes. You’ll eat with the abandon of one who’s walked miles in the freshest of air and seen wonders, and warm yourself in the glow of a fragrant peat fire. And a delight of a different type is Stanley, a last bastion of archival Britishness, with its shops, fish and chips, and excellent small museum. Choose to visit and you’ll have the opportunity to see a highly illuminating and moving documentary on the British-Argentinian conflict—just another of the Falklands surprising ‘reveals.’

The Falklands are part Britain, part wild kingdom.

This page, clockwise from top: Child with a lamb at a settlement on West Point Island; there's nothing quite like a Falklands farm tea with a splendid assortment of cakes, shortbread, lemon tarts and scones; in Stanley, evidence of the islands' long-standing allegiance to Britain; Magellanic penguins nestled in the tussock grass.

THE LINDBLAD-NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC POLAR FLEET PROVIDES THE FINEST BASE CAMP AN EXPLORER could want, allowing us to freely roam. National Geographic Explorer, National Geographic Endurance, and National Geographic Resolution are equipped with a fleet of Zodiacs and kayaks for up-close and personal explorations. The Bridge is welcoming, inviting you to spend time with the Captain and officers, watching the calm business of navigation unfold. The ships are also equipped for living well. The lounge, dining room, and other public spaces contribute to the esprit de corps that is a hallmark of our expeditions. A fully stocked library serves those who want to learn more or curl up with a best-seller. The wellness center, gym, sauna, and stretching sessions with our wellness specialist boost the tonic of wildness nature provides. And cossetting cabins, outfitted with our signature linens and feather duvets, provide the perfect ending to active days.

This page, from left: National Geographic Explorer's expansive decks invite you outdoors to relax and observe the vistas; Explorer's Bistro Bar is a lively alternative to the main dining room for meals and socializing.

THE QUALITY OF YOUR TRAVELING COMPANIONS CONTRIBUTES greatly to the quality of your experience. Flanking our expert expedition team are special guests who'll add an extra layer of relevant insight and perspective to all you'll see and do. And your fellow guests will likely increase your enjoyment. An uncommon destination like this acts as a filter. And the interesting individuals who pass through it are people with whom you're likely to have something in common. This makes for fun and can lead to lifelong friendships.

Our polar ships travel with an undersea specialist who dives with a video camera to bring back footage for all to watch on screens in the warmth and comfort of the ship's lounge.

Steeped in Shackleton and whaling lore, covered mostly in glaciers, South Georgia explodes with life: macaroni and king penguins, enormous elephant seals and a thriving fur seal population. Here on South Georgia you can observe one of the world's great wildlife spectacles: literally tens of thousands of stately king penguins on a single beach. The Falkland Islands are equally impressive, with colonies of nesting albatross and rockhopper penguins. This British Territory also adds a human element, with remote settlements and people living off the land.

EXPEDITION HIGHLIGHTS

- ▶ Weather permitting, hike in the footsteps of Sir Ernest Shackleton's fated Imperial Trans-Antarctica Expedition aboard National Geographic Endurance.
- ▶ See king penguins—literally tens of thousands on a single beach in South Georgia.
- ▶ Observe magnificent black-browed albatross in the Falklands and see Magellanic penguins peeking from their burrows.
- ▶ Paddle a kayak amid curious fur seals and Zodiac cruise in South Georgia's isolated bays.
- ▶ Two days prior in warm Buenos Aires? Time post-voyage at Easter Island? Or two nights in Santiago's Wine Country? Call or visit expeditions.com/southgeorgiaext

King penguins as far as the eye can see, South Georgia.

DAYS 1 AND 2: U.S./BUENOS AIRES, ARGENTINA OR SANTIAGO, CHILE

Depart on an overnight flight to Buenos Aires (National Geographic Explorer and National Geographic Endurance) or Santiago (National Geographic Resolution). In Buenos Aires, settle into the Alvear Art or Alvear Icon Hotel (or similar) before seeing the city's Beaux-Arts palaces and the famous balcony associated with Eva Perón. In Santiago, stay at the Mandarin Oriental Hotel (or similar) before exploring this vibrant city nearly surrounded by the Andes. (Day 2: L)

DAY 3: FLY TO USHUAIA/EMBARK

Fly to Ushuaia, the southernmost city in the world. Enjoy lunch on a catamaran cruise of the Beagle Channel before embarking. (B,L,D)

DAY 4: AT SEA IN THE SOUTH ATLANTIC

Settle into shipboard life, listening to informal discussions from our naturalist staff to prepare for the wildness in the Falklands. Spend time on deck and on the Bridge, scanning for petrels, penguins, and albatross. (B,L,D)

Blue-eyed shags, Falkland Islands.

DAYS 5 AND 6: FALKLAND ISLANDS

Each Falkland Island is a variation on the theme of topographical beauty with white-sand beaches, vaulting cliffs, windswept moors, and the sunlit yellows and sage greens of waving tussock grass. The Falklands boast thousands of irresistible gentoo, rockhopper and Magellanic penguins, as well as magnificent albatross and fur seals. Walk along beautiful white-sand beaches, meander through tussock grass, or sit atop a cliff and ponder the views. (B,L,D)

DAYS 7 AND 8: AT SEA

During our days at sea, we learn about the fascinating history of Antarctic exploration, as well as the flora, fauna, and geology of South Georgia. Our naturalists help identify the seabirds that follow us: wandering albatross, prions, and black-browed albatross. (B,L,D)

DAYS 9-13: SOUTH GEORGIA ISLAND

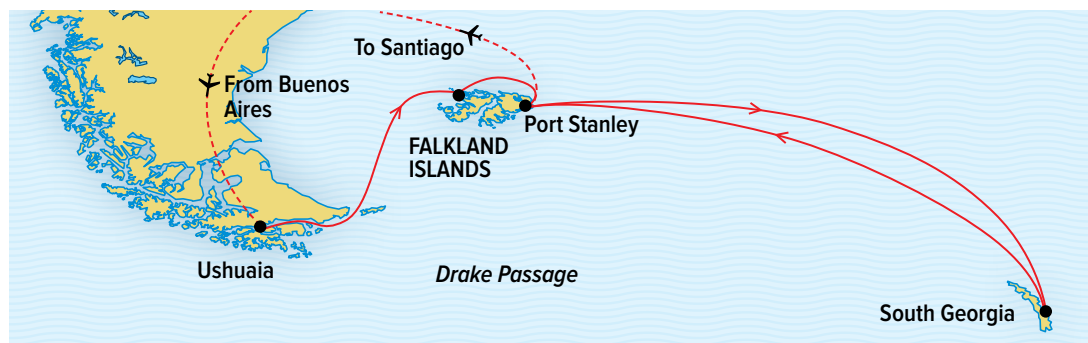

Explore the spectacular coastline of South Georgia Island. In keeping with the nature of an expedition, our schedule is flexible with opportunities for walking, hiking, kayaking, and Zodiac excursions. Sailing along the coast, we plan to offer activities every day, including visits to Grytviken, the final resting place of Shackleton, and Stromness Harbour, where Shackleton, Tom Crean, and Frank Worsley finally reached aid at a whaling station. See huge elephant seals, and on a single beach, you will see thousands of king penguins! (B,L,D)

DAYS 14-17: AT SEA/FALKLANDS

With whales beneath and birds above, head up to the Bridge, or spend these days enjoying the ship's spa, fitness center, library, and observation deck. After time at sea, our journey across the South Atlantic Ocean takes us once more to the island archipelago that teems with nature. Our afternoon visit to Port Stanley offers a chance to see the human face of the islands, to meet the hospitable locals, hoist a drink at a local pub, and stroll around this remote colonial town. (B,L,D)

DAYS 18 AND 19: DISEMBARK PORT STANLEY, FALKLANDS OR USHUAIA, ARGENTINA/FLY TO SANTIAGO, CHILE/U.S.

After breakfast, disembark in Stanley, the Falklands (National Geographic Explorer) or in Ushuaia, Argentina (National Geographic Endurance and National Geographic Resolution). Transfer to the airport for our charter flight to Santiago and connect with your overnight flight home. (Day 18: B,L)

EXPERIENCING THE FALKLANDS WITH ALL YOUR SENSES

Whether it's satisfying your appetite, kindled by active exploring in exhilaratingly fresh air and expansive landscapes, or keeping your spirit of anticipation whetted during days at sea, the culinary side of our expedition team is equal to the challenge. From the bespoke omelets and array of choices at lavish breakfast and lunch buffets, to the artfully prepared and plated appetizers, entrées, and desserts served at dinner, your experience will differ dramatically from the deprivation endured by the whalers and explorers, like Shackleton and his men, in the days of yore. It's fair to say: you can count on a culinary experience as rewarding as your daily discoveries.

Clockwise from top: From farm to table, including Falklands lamb; each day delicacies from ganaches to lobster; another Falkland endemic—we were the first ship to serve this artisanal beer, crafted in the islands.

“Ushuaia, the southernmost city in the world, is not an agricultural center, and provisioning the ship there with produce flown in from elsewhere in Argentina and Chile has always proved fraught. Now, with our support, Stanley Growers, located in the Falklands capital, is meeting our needs for fresh, sustainably grown and superb-quality produce. The teams enjoy every aspect of the relationship, from going to the farm when our ships anchor in Stanley, to getting creative with what they find there. And of course, guests can join us on our visits, to meet the farmers and learn how remarkable this farm is—especially given its location on the planet.”

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC EXPLORER

CAPACITY: 148 guests in 81 outside cabins.

REGISTRY: Bahamas. OVERALL LENGTH: 367 feet.

National Geographic Explorer is a state-of-the-art expedition ship, and the flagship of the Lindblad-National Geographic fleet. It is a fully stabilized, ice-class vessel, with an ice-reinforced hull, enabling it to navigate polar passages while providing exceptional comfort. It carries kayaks and a fleet of Zodiac landing craft. An undersea specialist operates a remotely operated vehicle (ROV) and sophisticated video equipment, extending access to the underwater world.

PUBLIC AREAS: Bistro bar; chart room; restaurant; global gallery; library; lounge with full service bar and state-of-the-art facilities for films, slide-shows and presentations; mudroom with lockers for expedition gear; and observation lounge. Our “open bridge” provides guests an opportunity to meet our officers and captain and learn about navigation.

MEALS: Served in single seatings with unassigned tables for an informal atmosphere and easy mingling. Menu is international with local flair.

CABINS: All cabins face outside with windows or portholes, private facilities and climate controls. Some cabins have balconies. Cabins equipped with Ethernet and Wi-Fi connections and USB ports for mobile devices.

EXPEDITION EQUIPMENT: Zodiac landing craft, kayaks, Remotely Operated Vehicle (ROV), hydrophone, splashcam, underwater video camera, aerial remote controlled camera, video microscope, snorkeling gear (where applicable).

WELLNESS: The vessel is staffed by a wellness specialist and features a glass-enclosed fitness center, outdoor stretching area, LEXspa treatment room and sauna.

SELF-DISINFECTING SHIPS: Lindblad Expeditions became the first self-disinfecting fleet with the rollout of the ACT CleanCoat™ system in 2019. This photocatalytic cleaning process activates when illuminated, continuously breaking down unwanted microbes such as bacteria, viruses, mold, and airborne allergens. The positive environmental impacts of this non-toxic, chemical-free system are many: less plastic in the supply chain and waste stream, and more than one million gallons of water saved annually. The system lowers our carbon footprint and creates a cleaner, healthier shipboard environment for guests and crew alike.

Not Included: Air transportation, charter airfare (where applicable) extensions, passport, visa, immigration fees, meals not indicated, travel protection plan, items of a personal nature, such as internet access, voyage chronicle, and laundry.

Airfare: For all programs, airfare is an additional cost unless otherwise indicated. We will gladly assist in making your air arrangements for a $50 per person service fee.

Reservations: To reserve your place, an advance payment is required at the time of reservation. Receipt of advance payment indicates your acceptance of the terms and conditions. Visit expeditions.com/terms for complete details.

Final Payment: Final payment is due in full 120 days prior to departure. Payment schedules may vary for certain longer voyages due to high demand for these voyages. We reserve the right to cancel your reservation if payment has not been received by final payment due date.

Travel Protection Plan: We strongly recommend that you take advantage of our Travel Protection Plan. This plan offers comprehensive coverage to protect you from cancellation fees, costs incurred due to trip delays/interruption, medical assistance, and damaged or lost baggage, and provides medical assistance and evacuation during your travels. Our Travel Protection Plan is available for U.S. residents only and may be purchased any time prior to final payment due date. If you are not satisfied for any reason, you may return your plan within 10 days after purchase. Your premium will be refunded if canceled within 10 days, provided you have not already departed on the trip or filed a claim. When so returned, the coverage under the plan is void from the original date of purchase.

Responsibility and Other Terms & Conditions: Certain provisions concerning, among other things, limitations of Lindblad Expeditions' and National Geographic Expeditions' (a division of National Geographic Partners, LLC) liability for loss of property, injury, illness, or death during the voyage will be provided to all guests on the ship's ticket sent prior to departure, and are also available on our website at expeditions.com/terms, or upon request. By registering for a trip, the guest agrees to all such terms and conditions.

Note: Itineraries and prices listed in this brochure are as of publication date and are subject to change.

Smoking and Vaping Policy: Smoking and Vaping are allowed only in designated outdoor areas.

Cancellation Policy: Call for details or visit expeditions.com/ book-assured

ACCLIMATE TO THE SOUTH START IN BUENOS AIRES...

PRE-VOYAGE/2 DAYS/2 NIGHTS

From $2,590* per person, double occupancy.

Explore vibrant and warm Buenos Aires from the posh comfort of your well-sited hotel, on a curated two-day extension that showcases the city's beguiling personality. See its famous Beaux-Arts architecture and the balcony associated with Eva Peron. Explore the brightly painted bohemian communities of La Boca and San Telmo, with their cafes, galleries, and street art. Visit top museums, and take in an authentic tango performance.

...OR IN SANTIAGO & THE CASABLANCA WINE VALLEY

PRE-VOYAGE/4 DAYS/3 NIGHTS

From $2,930* per person, double occupancy.

Visit Santiago's charming neighborhoods and get a taste for its world-famous cuisine at a few, select restaurants. Venture outside the city of Santiago and into wine country. Tour some of the beautiful wineries, meet Chilean winemakers, and sample world class wines alongside the experts who created them.

EXPLORE MORE WONDERS CONCLUDE IN EASTER ISLAND

POST-VOYAGE/4 DAYS/4 NIGHTS

$4,810 per person, double occupancy.

Take advantage of proximity to one of the most remote and mysterious places on Earth—Easter Island. Home to more than 600 giant moai, or stone statues, carved by the ancient Rapa Nui, this tiny island is almost 1,200 miles from its nearest island neighbor. Learn from key archaeologists about the ancient Rapa Nui culture that grew up in isolation.

Note: Due to airline schedules, on select departures the extension spends an additional night in Buenos Aires; additional cost applies.*

Note: On all extensions airfare is not included; additional cost applies*
